LONDON, October 4.

LAST tuesday 879,000 lb. of gun-powder was shipp'd for New-England.

It is said that a proposal is made for bringing up a company of orphans to be instructed in the business of pilots on our coasts.

London, Oct. 11. We learn that all the officers belonging to all the regiments in England, who are in London, have orders to repair to their regiments.

It is confidently said, that orders will soon be sent to his majesty's yards for building several 3d rate ships with 2 decks, the better to carry on the war, if matters are not accommodated to the entire satisfaction of both the king and parliament.

It is whispered, that the parliament of Ireland intend to impeach a noble lord in England.

London, Oct. 14. We hear the lords of the admiralty have been pleased to appoint Mr. John Moodie, who was first lieutenant of his majesty's ship Revenge, at the Nore, to be captain of the Blandford man of war, now at Plymouth.

London, Oct. 18. The ships which lately put in here under the command of Sir Edward Hawke, are cleaning with the utmost expedition for sea.

One of our men of war hath taken 12 vessels out of 13 that were going into Boulogne on saturday last.

We hear that 7 large flat bottomed boats have been taken by some of our men of war, as they were going from St. Villercy to Dunkirk. Many of them are getting ready at the first mentioned place, in order to take troops on board at Dunkirk and other ports of France. They are built to hold 400 men each.

They write from Portsmouth that the shipwrights for 3 or 4 days past have worked 2 tides.

London, Oct. 19. We hear that the marquis de St. Simon has received a categorical answer in relation to the negociations he came to England upon.

The government hath taken into its service several [illegible] to cruize on the French coast, which are getting ready in the river with all possible diligence.

Letters from Madrid take notice, that the emperor of Morocco is not for breaking the peace with England; but he has delegated too much power to his son, and knows not how to resume it.

In a few days the African company will take up ships into their service for the several coasts in Africa.

London, Oct. 21. Orders have been dispatched for the immediate sailing of 8 large men of war to particular stations in the Channel.

The expedition which has been made at Chatham is rigging and fitting the Royal Sovereign, a first rate, and the Princess Royal, a second rate, in as great, if not greater, than has ever been known, insomuch that they are already fully completed, and ready to go down to their stations towards the mouth of the Thames.

Thursday it was reported that the Brest squadron, consisting of 18 men of war, was sailed. It is conjectured they intend to intercept our ships bound for the East Indies, and likewise some ships homeward bound that have rich cargoes on board.

It is reported that guns are putting on board the men of war in ordinary at Chatham, and on board the hulks in that harbour.

Monday an extraordinary council was held at Kensington.

We are assured that admiral Hawke has instructions to proceed to sea with all possible expedition, and to watch the motions of the Brest squadron of 18 men of war, who were suspected to have some design to intercept our homeward bound merchantmen.

Yesterday 30 pieces of cannon were drawn out of the Tower, in order be sent to the sea coast.

In France at present, they seem to stand amazed at our conduct, and know not how to reconcile hostilities, without a declaration of war, to the law of nations. The case indeed is a little difficult, and out of the common road; but making reprisals at sea, for injuries suffered on shore, is not very hard to comprehend, and this is ours. We have written in water, after the copy set us at land; and in censuring our conduct they condemn themselves with all impartial judges.

It is reported that private letters by the last French mail say, that a large fleet of men of war and transports were then ready to sail, as supposed, to the relief of Cape Breton, and afterwards to make a descent on Halifax.

The captain of a French 60 gun ship, mentioned in a letter from Ireland as having been sent [illegible] from a much smaller English man of war, has since been broke. The English ship was the Ambuscade, capt. Rowley.—The French man-of-war's men set a good example of justice and exactness in the beginning of a war.

It is reported, that the brave inhabitants of a certain distant island, where the struggle for liberty have long been ardent, have solicited protection from the natural patrons of the liberties of mankind, for fear lest the finger of France should prove more oppressive than the bondage to their former masters.

London, Oct. 23. The following is said to be the present state of the British navy:

| | Ships. | Men. |
|---|---|---|
| In the Plantations, | 30 | [illegible] |
| With Adm. Boscawen, | 17 | 2775 |
| In the Mediterranean, | [illegible] | [illegible] |
| In the East Indies, | 6 | [illegible] |
| Cruising in the Channel, | 63 | [illegible] |
| At Home, | 45 | [illegible] |
| | 165 | [illegible] |

It is said, that in one of the French ships outward-bound, lately taken by one of our men of war, was found a letter of marque, to make reprisals in America, whither she was bound.

'Tis assured, that there are now 4000 French prisoners in our custody, taken on board the several ships since the action in America.

London, Oct. 25. Private letters from Ostend, by the Flanders mail, that arrived last monday, bring a confirmation that the French court is seriously bent on making reprizals immediately upon the English.

Letters from Toulon advise, that the 6 men of war, built at Genoa for the king's account, arrived there the 20th of last month. Two of the ships mounted 60 guns each: Two are of 50, and the rest of 40 guns.

From Rochelle [illegible] arrived there from Louisbourg, and another which parted company some days before, was hourly expected. They all 3 came out of Louisbourg the 19th of August, and were chased by 5 or 6 of our men of war on that station, but got clear of them.

Thursday se'nnight orders were sent to the war office, to make out commissions for 12 independent companies, to consist of 100 men each, which are now raising with all possible expedition.

Letters from France by the last saturday's mail, mention their being greatly exasperated at the unexpected resolution of the English, and that letters of marque and reprisal would soon be granted.

We hear that all those Chelsea Pensioners who are not incapable of service, will be formed into independent companies, and commanded by the officers who are at present on half pay.

A large quantity of military stores are ordered to be sent directly to Gibraltar.

London, Oct. 28. The following are exact lists of the French squadrons that are now fitting out at Brest and Toulon.

There are, besides these, now at Brest, 15 ships of the line, which compose the squadron lately commanded by M. Bois de la Motte and count du Guay.

By order of the Post Master-General, frequent boats are establish'd at Falmouth, for carrying on a regular monthly correspondence to his majesty's islands in the West-Indies; and also to and from the several colonies on the continent of North-America. On the LADIES of Charles-Town.

Three happy nymphs, where in each triumph we find
Wit's ſparkling ray, with matchleſs beauty join'd;
So good and modeſt, ſo polite and gay,
To hearts o'ercome form'd of adamantine clay,
For Cupid's gentle darts they point the way.
Studious to pleaſe, where e'er to pleaſe ſhews reaſon;
In judging right, their chief'eſt excellence:
Such graces join'd, no goddeſs e'er could prove,
Look once—you'll ſigh, but look again—you'll love.
